

Five years of partnership

Advantest and Nash Technologies celebrate their very successful cooperation

Böblingen, January, 22th 2020. The collaboration between Advantest and Nash Technologies began five years ago. In the meantime, it has developed into a reliable partnership, which is not only expressed in growing business figures, but also in diverse personal relationships. For the future, both expect an expansion of activities and a deepening of the cooperation.

About 60 employees from both companies were present when Klaus Siegert, Director R&D at Advantest, opened the ceremony. In his speech he looked back on our cooperation over the last 5 years. He especially praised the trustful cooperation and the flexibility shown by both sides. Both partners address problems openly. Georg Pielage, CEO of Nash Technologies, emphasized that Advantest involves Nash Technologies in important decision-making processes in a timely manner.

The festive cake must not be left unmentioned: a successful board layout in which the partnership of both companies was cast in sweet silicon. The unofficial part of the celebration began when Matthias Lehnert released the creative delicacy for consumption. In a relaxed atmosphere there was a lot to talk about, even away from high-tech and V93000.
